POSITION SUMMARY (Line 14)

Revenue Economist-Confidential-Senior positions provide econometric, policy, and fiscal analysis to the Governor, the Legislature, and the public on state tax policy, state and local finance matters, and the Wisconsin economic outlook. These positions provide revenue estimates, economic forecasts, estimates of the fiscal effect of existing and proposed tax, state aid, and tax relief efforts, develop recommendations on legislative proposals; identify policy options; prepare budget and policy issue analyses, and produce research reports on Wisconsin's state and local taxes. The revenue and fiscal estimates created by these positions are used in the development of the Governor's budget bill and provide guidance to the Legislative Fiscal Bureau for revenue estimates released by that office.

Work assignments are on a short-term to long-term basis. Long-term assignments are without any supervisor directive and are broadly defined in relation to the position's total assignment.

Positions at the senior level have demonstrated a well-developed base and depth of relevant knowledge of: 1) tax and tax relief policy issues; 2) the state's economy; 3) the legislative history of tax and tax relief issues; 4) Department of Revenue (DOR) specific databases and data sources – including knowledge of how to access, utilize, and evaluate DOR data; 5) data sources outside the department (including those developed by other state agencies, federal government agencies, and private firms and non-profit organizations); 6) state statutes, federal law, department administrative rules, and agency practices and 7) the division's work products, existing methodologies, and communications.

This position should develop working relationships with appropriate professional positions both internal and external to the department on policy, fiscal, and technical matters. The information developed by this position will be utilized in providing econometric, policy, and fiscal analysis to the Governor, Legislative Services Agencies, and the public on state tax policy and state and local finance matters. This position may interact with a range of employees such as top management officials, internal DOR employees, and others external to DOR. Based upon business needs, this position will coordinate work groups on issue development; provide solutions and direct negotiations on complex issues; and provide training and consultation to junior analysts.

This position will conduct research & analysis in the areas of state taxation with a major focus on:

- Both general and segregated fund excise taxes (including cigarette, tobacco products, liquor, beer, and motor fuel taxes).
- Regulation of alcoholic beverages, and related issues.
- Tax and finance ranking responsibilities include both state and local government and both revenues and expenditures.
- Sales tax including certain product-based exemptions.

This position will work under general supervision of the Division of Research & Policy Division Deputy Administrator. The supervisor provides general review with objectives and priorities established by overall work unit directives. Supervisor reviews the work after it is completed for informational or evaluation purposes. Positions determine the appropriate methodology to be used. Advanced proficiency level. Significant latitude for taking initiative and using independent judgement. Senior/well developed level competency.

Confidential Exclusion Analysis (Non-Supervisory Positions)

This analysis should be completed by the position's supervisor and reviewed by the agency human resources representative prior to classifying a position as "confidential." The information will be used to assist in determining if the position is performing confidential duties which support inclusion of the position in a confidential classification, resulting in exclusion of the position from bargaining unit representation.

Wisconsin Statute s. 111.81(7) excludes from the definition of employee for collective bargaining purposes "individuals who are privy to confidential matters affecting the employer-employee relationship..." Under s. 111.825(3), Wis. Stats., the Wisconsin Employment Relations Commission (WERC) assigns eligible employees to the appropriate statutory bargaining unit and ultimately determines appropriateness of confidential exclusions. Through case decisions, the WERC has developed the following criteria to determine if an individual should be excluded on the basis of being confidential. The criteria should be used to determine if a position may appropriately be classified as confidential.
